

Bruises

I love all the bruises
You left on my skin
My eyes are burning
my jaw recreates your grin

I feel all the bruises
They shimmer in the sun
I can smell all your touches
They taste like heaven on my tongue

You're not drowning
Its just the blood rushing through your ears
You're not choking
Just your eyes filling up with tears
You're not breaking
Its just your heart pumping against your chest
And all the bruises, all the bruises
Will be gone the next time I kiss you my love

I don't feel the bruises
You left on my skin
My eyes are heavy
My jaw feels like cement

You're not drowning
Its just the blood rushing through your ears
You're not choking
Just your eyes filling up with tears
You're not breaking
Its just your heart pumping against your chest
And all the bruises, all the bruises
Will be gone the next time I kiss you my -

I'm not drowning
Its just the blood rushing through my ears
I'm not choking
Just my eyes filling up with tears
I'm not breaking
Its just my heart pumping against my chest
And all the bruises, all the bruises
Will be gone the next time I kiss you my love.