

If I Die

Wash my body weave my hair
When aurora rises you'll know I'll be there
I am one of hers now as you'll be when you die
Lay me on ice with my face to the sky

Bury me under a ton of stones
Free is my soul heavy my bones
Continue on before the end of the night
I will follow you as a flickering light

If I Die
Before you do

Sink my body in the sea
Like a sailor let me free
To the silent bottom of the ocean
Drown with me all your dark emotion

Lay me out on the rivers surface
Let the water be your nurses
If you carry on tomorrow
Leave to the river all your sorrow

If I Die
Before you do

Plant a young birch upon my heart
Then leave a sign before you part
The next time you will cross my way
I'll be grown to a shady place to stay

You will hear my voice through the wind in the leaves
You will feel my warmth if you lean on the trunk
I wont be alone among these other trees
I'll be always around if you needed me

If I Die
Before you do
