

Schlaflied

Sleep little brother close your eyes
I will try not to tell you any lies
You see it all you feel our pain
You'll be better when there is time to finally explain

Sing my brother sing me to sleep there are no further secrets that I need to keep You've always walked borders of reality
I am dancing towards insanity

Forgive me brother I've showed you my worst
I took what I needed to quench my thirst
Too easy to cross lines that shouldn't be crossed
You sooth my wounds when I think I am lost

But when the morning comes you will laugh again
And you will understand that there is nothing you depend on

Goodnight my brother we share the same blood
But do we also share the same quivering thoughts?
I left you here, there is a distance you keep
I sing too loud you sing me to sleep

Dream my brother hold me tight
My mistakes told you what is right
You see it all you feel our pain
In time you will know why it's hard to explain

But when the morning comes...

You'll be better when you wake up.

Will you be?
